

This app maps out when and where street cleaning is going to finish. The idea is that if you arrive before street cleaning finishes there is a good chance that you will be able to find a free, long term (between a couple of days and a week) parking space. I tried to only show areas where there are no other parking regulations to ensure that you will be able to park after the street cleaning period, but please be mindful and read the posted signs before parking.

When should I arrive/park my car?

In busier parts of the city people are already double parking and waiting for those street cleaning spots to open up and most of the spots are taken immediately. Many people arrive 30+ minutes before the street cleaning period ends. Keep in mind that double parking is illegal.

According to iQuantNY blog and its analysis of NYC parking ticket data, you are safe parking and leaving your car up to 10 minutes before street cleaning is finished. Below is a graph of tickets issued for a street cleaning spot from 11:30 AM to 1 PM.

This is only a suggestion based on data for this particular area. I take no responsibility for any tickets issued when parking with the help of Swoop.
